Another Killing Added to a Long List, Growing Out of a Half-

A Chief of the Choctaws Shoots His Brother-in-Law and Then Surrenders.

History of a Strife in Which the First Life Was Sacrificed in a Dispute Over Corn.

"I hate to do it, Luther, but I must," and shot him four times, one ball entering his victim's heart, another the shoulder, one the side and the other the groin.

The men were brothers-in-law and the trouble between them originated in February, 1888, when Tex Ford, who was also a brother-in-law of Luther and Everidge, killed Bob Peeler about some corn.

Ford induced Peeler to go with him to Henry Willis' house under a pretext of trading horses. When there, Ford sought an advantage and shot Peeler in the back. Peeler turned and shot Ford through the heart and fell dead. Ford was indicted in the federal court at Fort Smith.

Pending his trial in June, 1888, Luther I nvited Ford to his house. After dinner they went out on the front porch to smoke. Luther went in the house and got his Winchester and shot Ford in the back. Ford ran to the fence and fell outside dead, pierced with five balls. Luther and his family went about their duties and Ford's body lay there until the following after noon, exposed to the heat of a summer's sun.

For this crime Luther was also indicted at Fort Smith, and Joe Everidge, who was chief of the Indian police and a warm friend of Ford's, took an active interest in the case. After a long trial Luther was acquitted in February iast. On his release he made threats against Everidge, and officious persons fomented the trouble be-return of purchase price. On this safe plan officious persons fomented the trouble beween them.

It was certain that sooner or later one of them would be killed, and the only question was as to which would get in his work first. Both men were daring to desperation and used to all the unscrupulous methods of warfare practiced in that country.

After killing Luther, Everidge gave himself up to Boss McCoy, the sheriff of Kiomitia county, in the Choctaw Nation, under the apprehension that, as both were recognized citizens of the Choctaw Nation, the federal court here would have no jurisdiction, but he is mistaken. The fact that Luther has been a United States guard in the territory, gives the federal court jurisdiction, and District Attorney McComb had warrants issued for the Everidges and the negro Willis. Luther has several brothers who are swearing vengeance, and it is believed that this deadly family feud has not ended. Both families are numerous and influential, and more bloodshed is expected to follow.

Everidge has long been chief of the Interior of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggists a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. A Woman's Discovery. Another wonderful discovery has been made in these closing years of the nineteenth century, by one of the best known ladies of Minneapolis. She has discovher tell it in her own words: "I cannot close this rambling letter without alluding to the charming ride we had on the Burlington road from Minneapolis to Chicago. More close this rambling letter without alluding to the charming ride we had on the Burlington road from Minneapolis to Chicago. If there is any road in the United States or elsewhere which has more luxurious or more perfectly comfortable sleepers, more beautiful, well-appointed dining cars, more appetizing, satisfying meals, or better attendance in all its departments than this road, I have never seen it, and I do not believe it exists. The arrangements of the cars I have never seen it, and I do not believe it exists. The arrangements of the cars were all so perfect, and everything was so quiet, that I, for one, was sorry to leave them, and determined then and there to recommend the Burlington to any friends who in their journeyings might avail themselves of this route."
